All you need to do is that you should install it on your system and then after that you will have to start the software and then a list will appear on your screen. From that list you should select the backup tool which is there on your computer and then you can get the tool and then you can select the drive which is there on your system. Now you should select the location where you want to get the backup data. You should select the location which is present on your system and then a backup would be made. That backup file which you have made would be a.ZIP file so you should transfer that file to the location which you have chosen and then you can extract the.ZIP files and then you can get the data. The data which you have got is not only data but you can also get the settings there. The settings would be the backup which you have taken and then you can get the data from the settings file by using any file viewer which is present on your system. Features. Related to easy drive data recovery 3.0 after the step 5 !.The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for transferring fluid and particulate material, and is particularly suited for transferring hydrocarbon condensate back into a production well after being lifted from the surface. Fluid and particulate material is frequently removed from the surface of the earth by pumping it into a collection vehicle such as an oil tanker. If there are more such collection vehicles than there is production, it is necessary to utilize methods of transferring hydrocarbons from a production well to one or more vessels. In some situations, it is possible to feed hydrocarbon condensate into a production well as a liquid, the liquid condensate as it flows down the well increasingly becoming progressively less liquid as it descends. Once it reaches the bottom of the well, it can be stored in a storage vessel. In other situations, it is necessary to transfer hydrocarbon condensate from one production well to another, or from a storage vessel to another location in a pipeline or other transit line. A problem arises when very light hydrocarbon condensate is being transferred to a production well because for this to occur it is necessary to mix the condensate with
